Number of courses/subjects related to sustainability offered

Description:

There are 22 schools and 3 regional branches with a variety of educational programs, numbering 12413, of which 3494 courses are related to sustainability. In 2021, structural changes took place and several schools were merged, joined by the Institute of Economics, Management and Natural Resources and the Institute of Business Process Management. In addition, the Institute of Gastronomy expanded the portfolio of educational programs in the direction of the Food Safety programs.
However, the share of such programs remained approximately at the same level.
